Recommendation

This fund may not be appropriate for investors who plan to withdraw their money within 5-10 years.

Risk and reward profile

The sub-fund is a high-risk fund that invests in emerging markets, which means that fluctuations in price are common. This is because investments on the Emerging stock markets are more likely to experience sharp rises and falls in value.

The category 6 means a high risk and consequently high potential losses and gains.

The risk category has been determined on the basis of historical and simulated data and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile. The risk and reward category shown does not necessarily remain unchanged and the categorisation of the fund may shift over time.

The lowest category of the risk indicator does not mean a risk-free investment. Repayment of the initial investment is not guaranteed.

Financial instruments are impacted by various factors such as the development of the financial market, economic development of the companies, the general world economic situation as well as economic and political conditions prevailing in each country. The currency exposure may also impact the portfolio's performance. This synthetic risk and reward indicator (SRRI) scale rating indicates how the sub-fund may perform and the risk of losing some or all of your capital. Generally, the potential for higher gains also mean a larger risk of losses.

In addition to the risk captured by the indicator, the overall sub-fund value may be considerably affected by currency risk as the sub-fund invests in assets denominated in other currencies than the sub-fund's base currency, which may affect the return on your investment. Also, emerging market countries face more political, economic or structural challenges than developed countries. Investments in such countries may offer higher potential for gains or losses. The sub-fund is exposed to liquidity risk not adequately captured by the indicator. Liquidity risk is defined as the risk that arises when adverse market conditions affect the ability to sell assets when necessary. Reduced liquidity may have a negative impact on the price of the assets.

For further information concerning the risks of the sub-fund, please consult the prospectus of the fund, which is available at the registered office of the Management Company and on www.eastcapital.com.
