

Key Investor Information

This document provides you with key investor information about this collective investment. It is not marketing material. The information is required by law to help you understand the nature and the risks of investing in this collective investment. You are advised to read it so you can make an informed decision about whether to invest.

UBS (CH) Global Alpha Strategies, class (USD) A (ISIN: CH0107690874)

This collective investment is managed by UBS Fund Management (Switzerland) AG, which is part of the UBS AG.

Objectives and Investment Policy

The collective investment invests globally in the most promising hedge funds according to UBS selection criteria. Carefully selected fund managers cover a broad range of complementary investment styles and strategies. Currency risk exposure in respect of the reference currency is extensively hedged.

The collective investment opens up the hedge fund universe to private investors, an area which is usually difficult to access. The collective investment of funds structure enables risk to be spread more widely than with investments in individual hedge funds. The long-term investment objective is to achieve a positive absolute return, while keeping correlation to traditional investment categories low and volatility moderate. The collective investment is suitable as a means of diversifying the core investments of an investment portfolio.

Investors may demand to redeem their units from the fund management company quarterly.

The collective investment's net income will be paid out to investors each year, within four months of the end of the previous financial year.

Risk and Reward Profile

More about this rating

- The risk indicator is an uncertain estimate of the future performance of the collective investment. The method used for this estimation method depends on the type of fund.
- Historical data may not be a reliable indication for the future.
- The risk category shown is not guaranteed and may vary over time.
- The lowest category does not mean 'risk free'.

Why is this collective investment in category 5?

The collective investment is in category 5 because the volatility of its returns is high.

Further material risks:

- Small use of uncollateralized over-the-counter instruments exposes the collective investment to small potential counterparty default risk.
- A significant portion of the collective investment is invested in less liquid instruments where bid-ask spreads and the price impact of trading might increase significantly under adverse market conditions.

Charges

The charges you pay are used to pay the costs of running the sub-fund, including the costs of marketing and distributing it. These charges reduce the potential growth of your investment.

One-off charges taken before or after you invest <sup>1</sup>
Entry charge	2.00%
Exit charge	2.00%
Costs debited to the fund over the year
Ongoing charges	1.67%
Costs debited to the fund under certain conditions
Performance fee	10.00%

The entry charge and exit charge shown are maximum figures. In some cases you might pay less – you can find this out from your financial adviser.

The ongoing charges figure is based on expenses for the year ending 2013. This figure may vary from year to year. It generally excludes:

- Performance fees
- Portfolio transaction costs, except in the case of an entry/exit charge paid by the sub-fund when buying or selling units in another collective investment undertaking

You can find further information on costs in the prospectus under section 5.3 "Remuneration and incidental costs". You can find this at www.ubs.com/funds.

Past Performance

Performance in the past is not a reliable indicator of future results

The chart shows the class's investment returns, calculated as a percentage change in the class's net asset value from the end of one year to the end of the next, in the class's currency. In general, any past performance takes account of all ongoing charges but not the entry charge. If the collective investment is managed against a benchmark, its return is also shown.

The class was launched on 31.03.2010.

The past performance of this sub-fund is calculated in USD.
